

Indianapolis-based Chimney Sweep Earns Venting Industry's Highest Designation

June 23, 2017

Plainfield, IN- Joseph Sauter of Indianapolis, Indiana has earned the Chimney Safety Institute of America's (CSIA) "Master Chimney Sweep" designation, becoming the only active chimney professional in the state of Indiana to hold the organization's highest distinction.

"Not only has Mr. Sauter earned the CSIA Master Chimney Sweep designation through his hard work and commitment to continuing education, he is also one of an elite group of CSIA National Chimney Sweep Training School instructors. We are incredibly grateful for his service to our organization and this industry as a whole," stated Jordan Whitt, CSIA's Director of Communications.

The CSIA awards the Master Chimney Sweep designation to those who have held the CSIA Certified Chimney Sweep credential for a minimum of 10 years, currently hold the CSIA Certified Dryer Exhaust Technician credential and have completed numerous other industry-specific courses, including Masonry Repair for Chimney Professionals, Inspection and Report Writing, and Chimney Physics.

###

About the Chimney Safety Institute of America: The Chimney Safety Institute of America (CSIA) is a 501 (c)(3) non-profit, educational organization dedicated to chimney and venting system safety. CSIA is committed to the elimination of residential chimney fires, carbon monoxide intrusion and other chimney-related hazard that result in the loss of lives and property. To achieve these goals, CSIA devotes its resources to educating the public, chimney and venting professionals and other fire prevention specialists about the prevention and correction of chimney and venting system hazards.

Contact

Jordan Whitt
CSIA Dir. of Communications and Marketing
(317) 837-5362
jwhitt@csia.org